Pure. Potent. Proven.

At Verdania Fields, we are uncompromising in our commitment to quality. Our medical expert has treated thousands of patients—many with complex health issues—and has incorporated that knowledge into our formulations. There are four fundamental principles we live by: 1) We use only flower, not industrial hemp, because it is the purest and most potent source of CBD, 2) Everything we produce is lab tested to ensure there are no contaminants, 3) Our product is organically grown on a sustainable farm with higher standards than required for organic. There are absolutely no pesticides and 4) Our extraction method produces full spectrum CBD and has been shown to be the most effective way to maintain the 500+ beneficial compounds in the plant.

About the Founders of Verdania Fields

We created Verdania Fields as a partnership between two friends with a simple idea—to help women feel better.

It started with a conversation. First between us, then with our friends and now with you. A conversation about all the amazing women in our lives who do so much for so many. Women who haven't had a decent night's sleep in years, who take on more responsibility than they should but keep pushing forward and making a difference. Women who don't want any restrictions in their life because of health issues.

Verdania Fields founders, Pamela Moffat & Wendy La Duke

We know there are a lot of women who are curious about CBD but are nervous to try it. We get it. We used to feel the same way. You don't know who to trust, how it's going to make you feel, or how to take it. That's why our mission is to give you the information you need so you can take control of your health and make decisions based on fact, not confusing marketing hype. We want you to know what to look for and what to avoid. What's worth the price and what's a waste of money. See our website for more information.

Right now, we're challenged on every front. We need to stay strong, stay healthy and stay positive.

To your best health,

Pamela + Wendy
